Grow Your Economic Future in Regina

Regina's financial services sector provides critical services to the individuals and organizations that drives the local economy. It is headquarters for national and international financial institutions, including Farm Credit Canada (FCC), Saskatchewan Government Insurance (SGI), and many more.

Investing in Agtech

Economic Development Regina (EDR), Cultivator powered by Conexus (Cultivator) and venture capital fund, Emmertech, have teamed up to launch an Agtech Accelerator.

Through this partnership, we're solidifying Saskatchewan as a global hub for agtech investment, commercialization, and job creation by providing world-leading agtech and foodtech companies with the mentorship, resources, programming and funding needed to help them take their startup to the next level.

Through this we can accelerate game-changing innovation, further positioning Saskatchewan as a global leader for agtech and foodtech.

Homegrown Regina

Regina is a place for growers of all types. Our “homegrown” ingenuity has made us a global powerhouse in agtech and food production – the heartbeat of North America’s new prairie economy.

It’s also a thriving centre for business, social and creative entrepreneurs. Our population – one of the fastest growing in Canada – is young, diverse and ambitious.

Here, people don’t boast. We just get on with things in our own quietly audacious way. What we grow best are people – passionate “doers,” ready to solve some of the worlds biggest challenges, together.

Whether you’ve been here a day, a decade or your entire life, we want you to be part of our “homegrown” experience and energy.
