Homegrown Regina

Regina is a place for growers of all types. Our “homegrown” ingenuity has made us a global powerhouse in agtech and food production – the heartbeat of North America’s new prairie economy.

It’s also a thriving centre for business, social and creative entrepreneurs. Our population – one of the fastest growing in Canada – is young, diverse and ambitious.

Here, people don’t boast. We just get on with things in our own quietly audacious way. What we grow best are people – passionate “doers,” ready to solve some of the worlds biggest challenges, together.

Whether you’ve been here a day, a decade or your entire life, we want you to be part of our “homegrown” experience and energy.
